We're on a mission.

The health of our country is in serious decline.

In 1999, we decided to do something about it: teach people how to eat for health and explain the science behind it.

We teach our students to become the teachers, and the teachers are making a difference.

What makes NTI different from other nutrition schools? - We teach not only what to do, but why to do it.

Creating Optimal Health through Nutrition Education.

NTI believes that food is medicine

We know that good nutrition is the foundation for optimal health. Our teaching goes beyond a “one size fits all” approach to eating by exposing our students to a variety of nutritional philosophies along with a rigorous grounding in science.

Our students learn the skills necessary to meet the individual needs of their clients to help transform their health through the regenerative power of food. And in the process, students also become healthier versions of themselves. Upon completing our program, our graduates are prepared to work with clients in a wide variety of clinical settings.

In a time when food and health are most important, NTI has a plan

Since 1999, Nutrition Therapy Institute (NTI) has provided a cutting-edge, science-based curriculum that gives a wide array of individuals the skills they need for rewarding careers in nutrition therapy. Our students represent a range of ages, experience and skills—from individuals who want to build exciting careers as nutrition therapists to those looking to deepen their understanding of nutrition and healing such as chiropractors, massage therapists, yoga teachers and personal trainers. NTI stands for academic excellence. If you are seeking the best holistic nutrition program in the country, look no further. At NTI you will be challenged, empowered and inspired.

Flexible

You can take courses in the classroom at our Denver metro campus, or take them with an online cohort during four terms of the academic year – Fall, Winter, Spring, Summer.

Or, experience our courses as a self-paced independent start student any time of the year. You choose your own schedule.

Adaptive

You can be a full-time or part-time student, or adapt your pace according to your life needs. You can complete the program in as little as 12 months or up to 3 years.

Self-Paced

Our multiple class times and online classes mean that you can make our program work for your schedule.

Online Program

Many students find that learning at a distance offers the flexibility ideal for maintaining balance with jobs, families and other commitments. The online program includes videos and lectures on-demand, including downloadable audio recording, so you can listen to the lectures at your convenience. There are also regularly scheduled webinars with course instructors.

Graduates

Courtney Robson

NTM

I chose NTI because I wanted to get an in-depth education that would prepare me with all the knowledge I needed to have confidence in running a nutrition practice of my own. I received that and so much more! The entire experience was incredible and I feel so fortunate to have found such a great place to receive my education. NTI aligns exactly with my holistic health perspective and I could not wait to learn more and more as the classes went by. Now as a graduate, I feel so prepared for what is ahead in my career. NTI also has a great network of graduates and the teachers and staff are wonderful to work with. This place is a wealth of knowledge and I am so fortunate to have found it! Teaching and curriculum are supreme! It's been so beneficial for me not only to prepare myself for a new career in holistic healthcare, but also for myself and my family. Understanding what is taught at NTI is truly life changing.

Laurie Rein

NTM

You would be hard-pressed to find another school like NTI for a science based-holistic nutrition education. The courses are challenging, yet informative and fascinating. The staff is always helpful and the faculty is top-notch.

Kelly Dwyer

MNT, BCHN®

NTI is guided by science! As research uncovers new insights about nutrition & health, NTI leads the way with cautious, critical thought. NTI doesn't prescribe one way of eating, but approaches nutrition through the lens of nutrient density and supporting mind-body health. NTI teaches that "good nutrition" is full of layers, nuance and complexity & the program helps student sort out what a specific client might need. Faculty greatly enrich learning by sharing their clinical experiences.

Kristin Whitaker

NTM, BCHN®

Nutrition Therapy Institute is exactly what I was hungry for! I jumped in with enthusiasm, eager to learn and was thrilled with the span of scientific knowledge, academic learning, depth and breadth of the content. There is a perfect marriage between more conventional knowledge and treatments and holistic understanding and applications. It was hard. It stretched me. I grew so much. It was worth it! I am excited to pursue a career in nutrition and grateful for my roots at NTI.

NTI's faculty is trained to the highest standards of the profession...

Our faculty is comprised of Naturopathic Doctors, other health practitioners, and graduates of NTI's Master Nutrition Therapist program. They maintain successful practices with specialties in diverse fields such as women's health, fertility, cardiovascular healing, digestion, environmental health, mental health, pre-pregnancy health, pediatrics, allergies and autoimmune disorders.

Dianne Koehler, MNT, HHP

NTI Director

Dianne Koehler is a graduate of NTI, long-term instructor at the school, and as Academic Dean, played an integral role in the development of our curriculum. She is passionate about teaching nutrition. Her priority for students is that they learn about how nutrients interact with the biochemistry of the human body. Dianne regularly participates in advanced training to keep on top of the new information that needs to be integrated into our courses.
